

September 2022

European Political Consultant Day: September 14, 2022

26 years ago, on September 14, 1996 the European Association of Political Consultants (EAPC) was founded in Vienna. Last year the European Association of Political Consultants has declared this important day as a “European Political Consultant Day”.

Today, the EAPC has evolved into an organization with political consultants, campaign managers, researchers, academics, public relation and public affairs experts from 34 countries, with the aim of strengthening the development of democracy and democratic institutes in Europe and creating a platform for the exchange of ideas between political consultants.

The aim of this day is to make the work of the political consultants more visible and to highlight the contribution that professional political consultants can make to strengthening democracy in Europe.

For this year’s European Political Consultant Day an international online event, which is open to all political professionals, will be organized.

The evening will take place on September 14, 2022 at 18:00 CET and is open to anyone interested in the fields of political consultancy and in democracy. The participation in the video conference is free of charge. Access details will be provided after registration for this event.

For more information, please visit the European Association of Political Consultants (EAPC) social media channels or the association's website: www.eapc.eu